Let us show you another Scotland,
the real Scotland.....

Braemar, an ancient capital of the Scottish kingdom of Dalriada, and the surrounding area has been the playground of Kings and Noblemen for centuries. They were able to explore the natural beauty of the mountains from all angles, from their castles and hunting lodges in selected areas.

The modern visitors, unless they are hill walkers, normally see the the area from the bottom of the valley and cannot imagine the beauty as seen by the birds flying high above. Now, with the aid of BRAEMAR HIGHLAND SAFARIS, the visitor, too, can venture into the heart of the mountains to enjoy the picturesque landscapes of mountains and lochs, and see the wildlife and the plants which make the area so beautiful and interesting.

Travel in a 4X4 vehicle along some of the tracks which were used by the drovers taking their cattle to market towns in central Scotland, while your guide tells you of the history, customs and folklore of the past.

Binoculars are available in the vehicle.
